A Race for Hits Sweetheart's Life From the Patiodelphin Times. BARBOURSVILLE, Ky., June 25. This morning Miss Rosa Caudill, daughter of W. G. Caudill, nearly died of sufficiation in her father's deposit vault. Caudill is deputy international Revenue Collector for this district and his daughter acts

Collector for this district and his daughter acts as clerk.

Caudili left the office to take a train, and Misa Caudili and her friend, J. H. Byerly, remained. For amusement Hyerly had the young lady get into the vault and let him close the door. When she did so the combination was unintentionally turned and the wault locked. It was then train time the station was almost a mile way, and Caudili at the depot, had the secret to the combination of the vault. Byerly ran for his life and the depot was reached just as the train was leaving. The combination was secured and the vanit opened in about fifteen minutes.

of Ir, walked into this city late last night after three days' experience with a circus. Willie left this city on Monday night with the circus hands, and being a barber's assistant he thought he could make his living shaving the circus men. He states that at Perth Amboy one of the hands told him to shave a man who was alsepling on a tronk, before the afternoon's performance. This the boy attempted. As he was clipping the hair with his shears the ringmaster rushed in and exclaimed:

"Gan I kill a dog? Well, that's just where I may the dog the Manayuuk police force to a circus was the circus who sought his aid the other day."
